

INVITATION

Conference Knowledge and Innovation Programme Marker Wadden (KIMA)

12-14 October, Amsterdam, The Netherlands

Marker Wadden is an archipelago of nature islands in the centre of the Netherlands, created with excess sediment from the bottom of the lake. The aim is to restore the balance of the ecosystem in the lake through Building with Nature. The islands have been extensively researched over the past 5 years, on the themes building with fine sediments, ecosystem development and governance.

Join us

Come and learn about the research results.
We invite you discuss ecological restoration and Building with Nature in shallow lakes, related to climate adaptation and biodiversity.

For whom?

We welcome professionals from governments, nature organisations, companies and knowledge institutions involved in ecological restoration and management of shallow lakes.

Dates and location

Wednesday 12 October: BIMHUIS and Muziekgebouw, Amsterdam

Thursday 13 October: EYE Filmmuseum, Amsterdam

Friday 14 October: Field trip to Marker Wadden

Building with Nature

The programme details are now available at www.kennismarkerwadden.nl/conference2022